Voters Approve New Tax Base

By Kris Cole

Canby High School and Elementary districts both passed a tax base limitation for the first time since the 1920's last Tuesday. The high school's $4.3 million tax base passed with 3418 "yes" votes to 2424 "no" votes, not counting the absentee ballots.

Principal Larry Wright expressed how he felt about victory for the district by saying, "I'm elated! It's a real 'hats off' to our teachers, kids and community who worked so hard."

In a last effort to pass the budget, students, staff and community members were out canvassing the Canby area Monday night, May 16. This, however, was only one of the many tactics used by the committee of volunteers to pass the tax base.

The committee was made up of community members, teachers and administrators. In addition to the canvassing, the committee held two Saturation Saturdays to pass out flyers and contact voters. Along with flyers, phone calls were made.

The committee, made up of four chairpeople, includes Wayne Scott, Roger Reif, Kermit Scarborough and Marty McCullough. The committee, divided in to subcommittees, has been working with Montgomery Johnson and Ann Quantock, a public relations office. The committee accepted donations from individuals and groups to pay for the campaign.

Signs were put up around the community to encourage people to vote "yes" on May 17, and 17 public lectures were scheduled.

If the tax base had not passed and the district was unable to pass an annual levy for 1988-89, the district would fall into the "safety net." If this would have occurred the budget would have been reduced by $1.1 million. Included in this "cut" would have been many programs and staff, according to Dick Brown, superintendent.

Molalla High Blaze Damages School

By Stacy Barker

A blazing flame followed by four explosions broke out in the top left corner of the Molalla High School gymnasium, Saturday, April 25, at approximately 10:40 p.m.

Nearby neighbors saw the reflection of the flames through the windows of their house. Another neighbor reported seeing two unidentified people coming out of the gym minutes before the fire started. Arson is believed to be the cause of the fire.

Firefighters from eight different fire stations were at the scene of the three alarm fire. The fire burned out of control until approximately 11:30 p.m. The firemen started fighting the fire from the outside of the school; once it was believed to be under control, firefighters started on the inside of the school. Metal firedoors were installed just five months ago, during Christmas vacation, and they were credited with saving the rest of the school.

Evidence shows that the hallway connected to the gym was vandalized before the fire started. A few lockers had been pried open, some windows broken, and the gate separating the hallway from the gymnasium was torn down. Classrooms were not severely damaged, although there were between two to four inches of water sitting in the halls and smoke inside the rooms. Nearby buildings were left virtually unharmed.

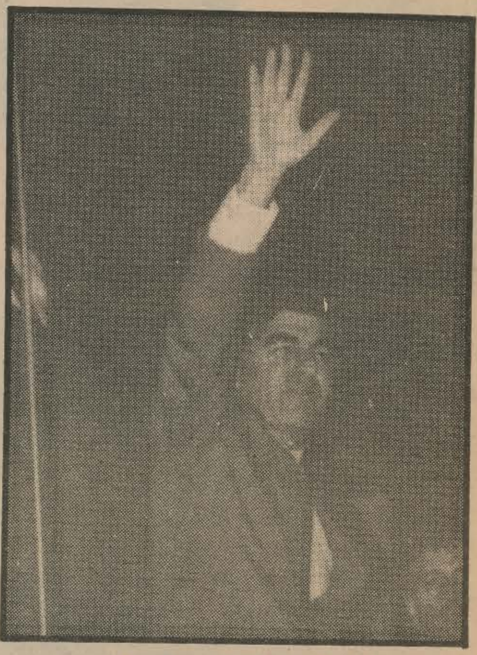
Classes at the high school were canceled for one week due to the danger of the standing gymnasium walls. The extreme heat from the fire left the cement walls weakened, so if a semi-strong wind had come by, the walls might have collapsed. Student safety was endangered due to three of the gym walls that are connected to the rest of the school. Classes resumed the following Monday with the help of the Moose Lodge, which offered to let the high school have some rooms for classes.

The estimated damage ranged between $750,000 and $1 million. Many things were lost including all team trophies and team pictures dated as far back as 1948 up until this year, records and sports equipment.

Due to the tragic loss of the Molalla High School gymnasium, the May Day program was held at Canby High in the New Gym. Graduation has been rescheduled to be held at Clackamas Community College.

Molalla students and staff will have to make up the five days they missed, using a finals schedule during the week. Students will be released early each day after taking two or three final exams.

Jesse Jackson



Michael Dukakis

Students Get Really Political

By Julie Merriott

Shaking hands with Presidential hopefuls, Rev. Jesse Jackson and Gov. Michael Dukakis, were extra privileges for some Canby students. They were part of the 115-member Floridian delegation, seated front and center of the Memorial Coliseum stage, May 11-13.

Despite those exciting moments, the main purpose of the 1988 Mock Democratic Presidential Candidate Nominating Convention was to select the party's Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates.

It required five ballots and five hours for the 56 states to vote a majority of 2103 for Dukakis over Jackson's 1354.

It took one ballot for Senator Albert Gore, with 2650 votes, to triumph over opponent, Senator Sam Nunn, who won 1555 delegates, in the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Historically, if the candidate chosen by the Model Convention is the one nominated by the real convention, he goes on to win the Presidential elections in November. Even with the professional atmosphere of the convention, there were unexpected activities such as dancing in a congo line, and doing the limbo amidst showers of confetti, during the entertainment sessions. In addition, Florida led numerous demonstrations and rallies.

The events began Wednesday, with a guest appearance from Andrea Dukakis, 22, daughter of Michael Dukakis. She encouraged teenagers to get involved with politics. "If you ever have the opportunity, get involved in a local or national campaign. It's one of the most rewarding experiences that I've ever had in my life."

The feature attractio[illegible] was Rev. Jesse Jackson, at 8.[illegible] p.m. His speech stressed peace over war, and the value of today's youth. "If you support me, you'll go to college and not to war any time soon," Jackson declared. "You are not our future, you're our right now."

A question and answer time followed, and when asked who he would choose as his running mate, Jackson's immediate response was, "Dukakis." After the laughter died down, Jackson added, "In all seriousness, in this process, we must never again let there be barriers based upon race, sex and religion."

In response to an inquiry as to what his first question in a debate with George Bush would be, Jackson replied, "Do you believe in horoscopes? The only prominent Oregon politician to support Jackson was Mayor Bud Clark, who spoke before Jackson at the convention.

However, Thursday boasted a number of appearances by well-known politicians on the local and national level.

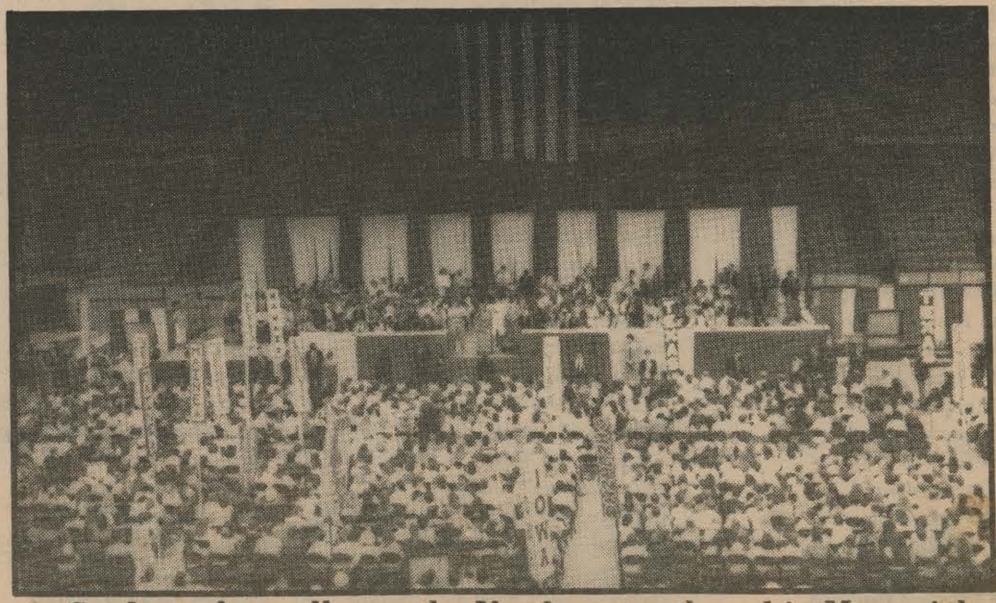
Barbara Roberts, Oregon's Secretary of State, was the first to address the 3000 Model Convention delegates. Gov. Neil Goldschmidt and Congressman Les AuCoin also visited the convention, preceding Massachussett's governor, Michael Dukakis.

Dukakis spoke on the importance of education, world peace, war against drugs, helping the homeless and today's youth. "We need your energy, skills and courage. The best of America is not behind us; it is yet to come."

Dukakis also alluded to the Reagan rumors by saying, "The future doesn't depend on the alignment of the stars; it depends on you and me."

After Dukakis' speech, balloons and beach balls were dropped from the rafters, and frisbees were thrown, celebrating the Governor's visit. An exclusive press conference followed, preventing Dukakis from screening questions from the audience.

In reflection of the three-day event, Mr. Dennis Burke, Model Convention advisor, disclosed that a dozen other advisors complimented him on Florida's enthusiasm and participation. "I think it was a great success. I am proud of them," Burke stated.



Students from all over the Northwest gathered in Memorial Coliseum last week to hold a mock nominating convention.

Band Members Receive Awards

By Katharin Lee

Canby High bands held their annual awards dessert on Thursday, May 12. Six awards were given, along with letters and certificates of participation.

The Drum Majors for 1988-89 were also named. Juniors Krisann Kosel and Jason Gingerich will again be Drum Majors.

The Outstanding Brass award and the John Phillip Sousa Award went to senior Danny Hunt. The Outstanding Woodwind Award went to Ruth Holmberg, junior. The Outstanding Percussion Award went to Megan Mace, junior. Paul Carlson, sophomore, received the Louis Armstrong Jazz Award. The Outstanding Freshman Award went to Caryn Kingsbury.

Nominations for the McDonald's All American Marching Band were also announced. Krisann Kosel and Jason Gingerich, juniors, were nominated.

Speech Places Third

Canby High speech team placed third at the State Speech Tournament April 14-16 in LaGrande. Ten students participated in various events and eight placed.

Mike Groff, senior, who spoke on "Time" is the State Champion in Oratory; Debbie Groff, sophomore, took second in Expository when she spoke on diamonds; Sara Lack and Missy Kocher, seniors, placed in the finals for Congress.

Michael Fuller, sophomore, placed in the semifinals for Impromptu, and Kenye North, junior, placed fourth in Serious Reading, where she read Medea.

Sol Burbridge, junior, placed twice, capturing second in Poetry and third in Dramatic. His poetry selection was about Christmas; his drama cutting was from A Man for All Seasons.

Brenda Jakeway, senior, also placed twice. She grabbed second in the State for Lincoln-Douglas Debate and fourth in Extemp.

North stated, "It was fun, but the competition was tough."

Busy Summer Awaits

Although summer vacation is just around the corner for most students, some will continue to take part in certain summer related activities.

Sport camps are among these summer activities. Students will give up some of their free summer time to improve their abilities for the following school year. Volleyball, football, basketball, and baseball all have camps for this summer.

Other students will take part in activities that are related to clubs they had been involved in throughout the school year. Going to speech nationals in Nashville, Tennessee, from June 11-19 will be Mike Groff and Brenda Jakeway, both seniors.

Individuals going to the National Leadership Conference in Cincinnati, Ohio, are seniors Jeff Ely, Jeanne Young, Mike Groft, Brenda Jakeway, Sara Lack, Tammy Morris, Missy Kocher, and T.J. Chandler. Juniors going are Tricia Anderson, Derek Finck, and Ty Stober.

Eleven juniorss were chosen to attend a series of governmental and leadership programs. Going to Girls' State, held at U of O, will be Melissa Amadio, Tara Deutsch, and Cindy Duffield.

Those attending Boys' State at OSU will be Sol Burbridge, Derek Finck, Shawn Karambelas, Matt Kelly, Tinh Nguyen, Dan Robinson, Matt Shanks, and Ty Stober.

Bryan Murphy rolled up his sleeve to donate blood last month during SKY Club-sponsored Red Cross Blood Drive.

126 Units of Blood Donated

By Shawn Karambelas

The Blood Drive, sponsored by SKY Club, came and left on April 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Old Gym.

One hundred seventy-six people tried to donate blood, but due to Red Cross safety precautions, some participants were not allowed to give blood. Some examples or reasons for rejection are previous illness, disease, born in Africa or certain medications currently being taken. Participants also had to be 17 years of age or older and weigh over 105 pounds.

Chairpeople for the event included Melissa Amadio, junior; Trisha Friesen, senior, and Malissa Shaw, junior. A total of 126 units of blood were received, just missing the goal of 130 units.

Mrs. Sharon Schneider, SKY Club advisor, stated, "I would like to thank all the students for donating and all the students who tried." She also expressed that she hopes the time schedule will work out better next year, allowing more kids to donate.

It was the first time donating blood for 60 of Canby's givers. The Red Cross wants young people to donate so then as adults, the chances are better they will donate again. The Red Cross officials noted that Canby was one of the most active, and felt people were anxious to give blood.

Amadio added, "I thought the Blood Drive was a success!"

American Legion Nationals

Chandler Awarded Third Place

By Mindy Tuthill

"I realized that the Constitution is not as great as people make it out to be . . . It's the People that make our Nation work," said Senior T.J. Chandler about his recent award.

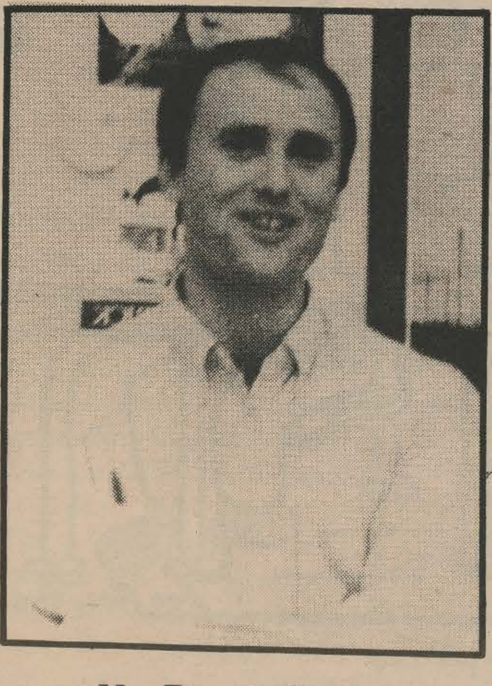
Chandler was awarded $10,000 for third place in the National American Legion Oratorical Contest. Chandler was one of 15,000 competitors from the U.S. and its allied nations--Puerto Rico, Germany, Guam, England and several others.

The competition was split up into two major parts. The first part was an 8-10 minute memorized speech to inform and persuade on some aspect of the U.S. Constitution.

The second part of the competition was a 3-5 minute extemporaneous speech to explain about a given section of the U.S. Constitution. The competitors were told of six possible topics. A topic was chosen out of the six for each competitor and the speaker had five minutes to prepare his speech.

There were six levels T.J. went through to get to his third place finish in Nationals. First, he competed in Local, then District, State, Regionals, Sectionals and lastly, Nationals.

Transportation, lodging and food were paid for by the American Legion.



Mr. Dennis Burke

Teacher of the Month

By Shannon Frentress

May's teacher of the month went to Mr. Dennis Burke. Mr. Burke teaches U.S. History, Global Studies, and this year, Model Convention.

He is head J.V. football and basketball coach.

He graduated from Sherwood High School and Linfield College, and has taught at Canby for four years.

Mr. Burke comes from a family of nine kids; eight boys and one girl. He is frequently mistaken for his identical twin, Dan, who is also a teacher and coach.

In his spare time, Mr. Burke likes to travel, go camping and fishing, read books, and listen to all types of music.

"I like to relax and enjoy good friends and good company," stated Burke.

Reputations Hurt By Gossip Mill

One simple story about what went on over the weekend can spread throughout the school in a matter of minutes. By lunch, the simple story is an ill-fated catastrophe involving the police, and by 2:35 p.m...

Rumors and gossip are alive everywhere there are people. These bits of who did what and with whom capture almost everyone's attention. Where the stories are told, is where the people are gathered.

Although some gossip may be true, it creates a situation for potential hazards. In the course of a story, facts are changed here and there until finally, there's no truth. Gossip creates bad reputations, misunderstandings and gets people in trouble.

In the 1950's Joseph McCarthy started what is an example of the destruction that can be brought on by rumors. His fear of communism lead him to spread rumors and point fingers at innocent people. People's lives were destroyed, and careers were ruined because of his blind accusations.

Today, the Enquirer and the Star are multimillion dollar businesses built on gossip and rumors and have inspired many lawsuits. People tend to feed on gossip and other people's problems, even if they know they are not true.

Gossip is sometimes started as malicious and cruel, but it can also be started by accident or from overhearing and passing on what was heard. Either way, there is no good to come out of it, and it is hard to stop. Gossip is one of those things that is usually fine if it doesn't involve you, and if you didn't start it; however, the passers of gossip are as guilty as the source.

Class of '88 Anticipate Life in the Real World

Seventy-five seniors were asked this question: "What are you doing after graduation?"

Max Davis: have jobs lined up, then go to Australia at the end of summer.

Jason Warner: work full time at Sandy's Photo, plan living arrangements, enroll at CCC for 2 years.

Bernie Smith: gonna be a bum.

Tom Davies: live off my parents till they kick me out.

Travis Gordon: going to Sun River, Lake Shasta, and save money for college.

Colby Scheer: going to CA.; join the Ollie North Fan Club.

Lori Kinslow: going to Florida for school.

Ann Pauly: going to Sun River.

Brian McIrvin: go to Sun River, and hunt for babes.

Rod Brasfield: become a ski bum at Mt. Bachelor.

Nick Smith: become a doctor, go to Arizona.

Abbie Kimball: party all summer long.

J.J. Rapp: work. At the end of the summer, go to the beach with friends as our final farewell.

Nannette Savage: going to Sun River, Hawaii, spend time with Travis, and go to college.

Heather Roland: go to the beach, and live!

Alicia Finch: work, go to the beach, and do whatever I want to!

Colleen Wiese: work, go to college, and buy a house with my boyfriend.

Melissa: be with Kevin, work, and party all night long.

Renay Hester: moving to Coos Bay, have fun in the summer, go to SWOC in the fall.

Mike Cornacchia: work, college (community), Santa Cruz and most of all, be with Carol!!!

Brenda Jakeway: college. Depending on fund approval, either Lewis and Clark or Willamette. In the event I don't get any $ . . . U of O is always an option. If college education is bad, I can always find a husband there.

Mike Landerville: University of Portland for 4 years. Start a business, get rich on one of my awesome inventions, then build a house in Lake Oswego.

Robert Nolan: University of Notre Dame for 4 years, become a lawyer, and help Bill Bray in a hostile corporate take-over. Get rich and become a politician.

Derek Liebertz: Harvey Mudd College, 4 years, (I hope). Come back to Oregon and eventually become president of Mentor Graphics.

Melissa Kocher: I plan to go to Macalester College in Minn., discover the true meaning of life--sell it, make lots of money--then I'll probably die.

Tammy Morris: go to George Fox College and become an accountant. Then get married and let my husband do the work while I stay home.

Susan Domagalski: spend 4 years at Mills College and 17 years paying back my college loans.

Nicole Weber: live in a cabin, drink gourmet coffee, paint pictures and talk about love and peace.

Susan Bierma: go to U of O for a while, then move somewhere sunny and find true happiness.

T.J. Chandler: become 2 game shows' host.

Nancy Nagel: go to Concordia, earn a Ph.D, make mucho money, own a variety of expensive automotive transport machines.

Cassie Riecke: after college (PSU), I wish to take over the Maharejee Mahesh Yogi's commune in N.E. India. Send contributions to . . .

Torey Lam: take another year of vacation.

Jeff Roth: go to Goshen College for a while, work for an architecture business, build a house in the West Hills of Portland, get married, and live happily ever after.

Hai Nguyen: partying all summer and then go to some college and maybe play some soccer.

Danny Mala: jump a box car to California. See what's around me for a change. I plan to settle down before thirty.

Corey Brown: go to Tacoma and play soccer.

Scott Ballinger: go to college and study fire suppression.

Felicia Byer: graduate from high school and go to California.

Colby Hunt: assassinate Noriega, rename the Panama Canal the Colby Canal.

Rich Kittinger - fight fires and save lives.

Stu Inman - join the Peace Corps and save the whales.

Models See Big Bucks From Job

By Mindy Tuthill

Many young people aspire to become models during their adolescence. For most this is only a fantasy, yet for Senior Kelli Freeman and Junior Don Wagner, it is reality.

Kelli entered a contest sponsored by JC Penney's, Z100 and Academy One last year called Model Search Northwest. Kelli was asked to be one of 30 girls chosen from 500 entrants to do a show. She was then asked to join Academy One.

Kelli is now enrolled in training at Academy One. The classes cost approximately $1100. Academy students take a wide variety of classes ranging from personal development techniques to Model and Commercial development.

Costs for modeling range from $500 for a portfolio to miscellaneous amounts for clothes and accessories needed for interviews. Photography in Portland pays between $50 - $100 an hour, but it is generally much higher elsewhere. Runway pays $60 an hour. It is possible to make $1000 a day in the Portland Modeling Market.

Modeling is a profession that requires a lot of devotion and willingness to spend time working on it. A model must maintain her weight, keep up healthy skin and hair, and try to be stress-free to keep a healthy glow.

Kelli has modeled for Hobie Sportswear and has done things for Academy One. She will be going to New York for a few weeks over the summer to talk and meet with agents from all over the world. "I'm very excited about doing this (modeling); it has been a great experience." Kelli states that she's looking forward to traveling to New York. "If nothing happens, it will still have been a wonderful experience and something I will be glad to have tried."

There are many modeling agencies in the Portland area: ABC Kids Acting/Modeling Center, Academy One Inc., Barbizon School, Contemporary Images, Ewe-Me and Co., Glorea la Vonne, John Robert Powers School, Media Talent Centre, Models Network and Troutman Profiles.

Donie Wagner got into modeling because his father, Walt Wagner, a state police officer, models. Donie has been in some Fred Meyer ads recently.

Peer Counseling Works for Some

By Julie Merriott

Suicide, birth control, or last night's date are not subjects teenagers discuss openly with their parents. Rather, teens turn to their peers for guidance.

Peer counseling, developed in the sixties, has harnessed this natural source of crisis prevention, and reached youth in special ways. According to Ellen Rand of Woman's Day, "What happens is some teenagers are selected as advisors and taught to listen to their peers." These individuals are provided with information and referrals should further help be necessary.

The young advisors are trained extensively and taught communication skills, which covers 18 hours. Two rules followed by the teen counselors consist of not giving advice or sitting in judgment. The purpose of peer counseling is for teenagers to be available to listen to others their age, not to perform miracles.

A high school in Minnesota has experienced success in this area. The Teenage Health Consultants program, TAHC, requires its advisors to complete 60 hours of training, for which students receive acedemic credit toward graduation. Anorexia and drug and alcohol abuse are problems with which TAHC consultants have dealt.

Despite this, some have reservations about peer counseling. Dr. Michael Carrera, college professor in New York City, declared, "It could be dangerous for young people to assume that they should delve into other kids' psyches - it takes years and years of training for a professional therapist to be effective."

Another drawback exists in that some teens may feel uncomfortable with disclosing their personal life to someone they know from school. Embarassment might prevent distressed teens from accepting this cost-free service.

Nevertheless, with the increasing number of single or working parents, today's youth rely more on the advice of friends than in the past. Drug and Alcohol use , suicide, teen pregnancy, and other issues that affect teenagers may be prevented if more teen programs are installed.

Mrs. Sharon Schneider, counselor at Canby, said teen counselors are now called Natural Helpers. Schneider admitted Canby could benefit from such a program. "These students would serve as extensions, making it easier to reach others their age."

According to Mrs. Joanne Schwab, Oregon City has a Natural Helpers group. Canby's counselors have discussed starting a Natural Helpers at the highschool, but find that they lack the time to do so.

Rain Pelts Invitational Meet

By Denise Grubbe

Castle Rock, Cleveland, Reynolds, Silverton, and Tigard all came to Canby's Invitational Track Meet on Thursday, April 28, to compete in what was called "an all weather track meet." Despite the rain, hail, drizzle and a little bit of sunshine, Canby took second.

Tigard placed first; Cleveland, third; Castle Rock, fourth; Silverton, fifth, and Reynolds, sixth.

The girls' 1600m relay placed first with a time of 4:18.1. The girls also took second in the 400m relay with a time of 53.6. Jessica Gibb, junior, with times of 47.6 and 16.2 took first in both the 300m hurdles and the 110m high hurdles.

The boys' 1600m relay placed with a time of 3:37.2. Jeff Peterson, senior, placed first in the 3000 meter run, and Matt Shanks, junior, took first in the 300 Int. hurdles with a time of 40.9.

Karate Class Provides Fun

By Bill Bray

Suffering from tension? Feel like working it out in a physically demanding but enjoyable way? Karate may be the answer.

Both the Beginning and Intermediate classes are taught by Steven Lamper at Ackerman Junior High School on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The Beginning class meets from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. and costs $25. The Intermediate class is from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. and runs a little cheaper at $17.

The outfit costs around $30.

The students begin with the basics and work up to more advanced maneuvers. Finally, they get to show their skills at tournaments that are held on Saturdays in all the counties. One CUHS student, who declined to be identified, spoke of the tourneys; "They're fun and they're interesting, too. Plus, they are good learning experiences."

The classes are divided into four sessions: Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter, and lasts nine weeks.

The belt levels are white, yellow, blue, purple, brown and black. At the beginning of each month, students may attempt to challenge each belt level. However, it takes almost three months of vigorous training just to move from white to yellow belt. Each student must show off his/her "form" in front of Master Kim.

Once this has been completed, the students engage in non-contact "free sparing". This is where the students fight with another student of the same belt. Only after both tests have been completed successfully, may a student move up.

Even though the sport is non-contact, mishaps do occur. Recently, one student accidentally kicked another in the mouth, cutting his lip and her foot.

Interested students can check in the Community Education Office for more details.

Record Is Set

Boys' golf set a school record, totalling 152 at the Milwaukie-Putnam Tournament on Thursday, May 5. Dave Stocke led the players with a score of 200, par 35.

Canby placed second to South Salem at the following match on May 9.

Three days later, the team beat Lake Oswego 162-174 while Clackamas forfeited. Coach Bob Logsdon stated that this was the best score ever shot at the Willamette Green by Canby.

Poll Ranks Softball Second in State

By Megan Pavlicek

Canby's Varsity softball team with an 11-1 record is tied for first place in the league with Rex Putnam.

Canby played a tough game against Rex Putnam Monday, May 9. In the bottom of the seventh inning, Alissa Meeuswen's double to right center scored Kristi Northcutt to win the game 1-0. Canby had lost earlier in the season, but came back Monday with a victory.

Canby played Clackamas Thursday, May 5, in a 12 inning game. Patty Abel's grounder to shortstop allowed Alissa Meeuswen to score and end with a 1-0 win.

Kristy Brown, junior, co-captain, commented, "We have been real successful this season and I feel we have a good chance in placing at state.

District Meet Today

By Shawn Karambelas

The end of the season for most track athletes is almost here, with Varsity district today at 4 p.m. in Oregon City. Head Coach Tom Millbrooke stated, "I'm looking foward to districts," expressing hopes of getting as many people to state as possible.

Last Saturday the Three Rivers League Novice meet was held in Lake Oswego. Canby individuals who took first were Kellee Bennett, sophomore, who won the 100 meter and the 200 meter dash, and Gabby Hubbard, junior, who took first in the javelin. Greg Vaudt took first in the pole vault for the boys.

On the same Saturday, May 14, Jennifer Lillie, freshman, won the 400 meter run at Newberg.

At Oregon City, Thursday, May 12, Varsity and Junior Varsity lost to Oregon City. Varsity boys lost 87 to 58, and J.V. lost 69 to 52. Varsity girls lost 85 to 51, and J.V. lost 33 to 29.

Competitors from Canby who took first in their event were Sean Brown, senior, in the high hurdles and the intermediate high hurdles; Greg Hess, senior, pole Vault; T.J. Chandler, senior, 3000 meter race, and Brent Pavlicek, senior, shotput.

Top placers for girls' Varsity were Megan Pavlicek, junior, 400 meter race; Sherry Nelson, senior, 3000m; Angie Brinkman, junior, shotput, and Jessica Gibb, junior, 300 intermediate hurdles.

Team Reaches Goal

By Kris Cole

Varsity girls tennis concluded their season May 12 and 13 at Districts. Marion Hubbard, junior, made it the farthest in the tournament.

Although none of the girls got past the second round, Mrs. Connie Campbell, Varsity coach, stated that the team had fulfilled their goal of fourth in league.

With a record of 9-4, the Cougars finished fourth behind the three club teams of Lakeridge, Lake Oswego and West Linn.

At the banquet held Monday, May 16, Anita Pottratz, senior, was awarded Most Valuable Player and Courtney Hostetler, sophomore, was Most Improved.

Fish Bite "Zug Bugs"

By Justin Morgan

April showers bring May flowers and bring fishing season as well. Many nearby Oregon streams have been reporting high yields of trout from the onslaught of the season in late April.

Due to the rain run of juvenile salmon in the Molalla River, it has been closed to trout angling until tomorrow, May 21. Fortunately many mature salmon and steelhead have been coming over Oregon City Falls, as many as 1,000 a day dispersing into the Molalla, Santiam and Clackamas waterways, keeping anglers busy with small and large fish alike.

Most trout are being taken with live bait like worms or brown or black 1/8 ounce Rooster Tails. On the Fall River (flyfish only) near Sunriver, a Zugbug with sink tip leader has proven to be hot.

If trout aren't your quarry, too bad. Largemouth Bass, Crappie and other Panfish, due to the late spring haven't been too active lately with the cold waters and cloudy days. If the bite was on for Bass or Crappie, a good place to throw a jig or segmented Rapala would be at Rock Island on the Clackamas between Canby and Oregon City by way of 99E.

Injuries Trouble Varsity Baseball

By Lang Unger

Twenty-one games into total season play, the Cougars Varsity ball club own a record of 11-10; however, their league record shadows any hopes of making the state playoffs for the '88 season.

As far as meeting their expectations this season, Coach Junior Sato claims that the season is very frustrating. "Our pitching staff should have been our strong area," he said. "Due to injuries our pitching is weak."

John Inman, senior, has the most innings as a pitcher, with 33 1/2 and classmate Josh Polendey is in second with 23 2/3 innings.

The Varsity team is not without talent. Pitcher - first baseman, Doug Mootz, senior, earned a spot on the firt team All League pitching staff last year as a junior. Senior Josh Polendey was honorable mention at short stop.

So far this year the highest batting average goes to Doug Mootz who is 12 for 35 with a .343 average.

Senior Athletes Post Plans

By Geroge Schmidt

Numerous athletic awards have been earned by seniors over the last year. With these awards has come the opportunity for some to participate in intercollegiate sports.

Brent Pavlicek, who helped lead the Cougar football team to the State semifinals and was an all-state team selection, is leaning towards Lewis and Clark College as his choice of school. He cites the challenge both academically and athletically for his choice.

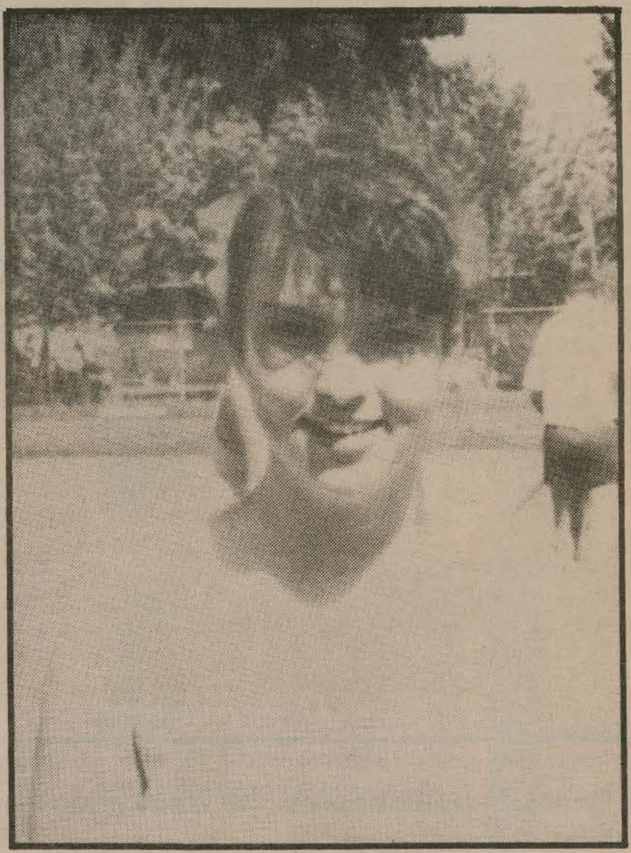
Pavlicek was also selected as a National Football Foundation Hall of Fame scholar athlete and will represent Canby in the Oregon Shrine Bowl this summer.

All-league selection Sandra Tate will be attending Mt. Hood Community College this fall on a volleyball scholarship. Tate hopes to transfer to a four year college after attending Mt. Hood. She is currently honing her skills with the Portland Volleyball Club team which consists of the top high school players in the state.

Corey Brown will be heading to Washington to play soccer at Tacoma Community College if everything goes as planned. The all-state goaltender who also participates in track hopes to use the community college as a stepping stone to a four year school. Brown prefers the Washington schools because of the level of play and the exposure he will get.

Occidental College in Los Angeles is Jennifer Giller's destination this fall. Giller plans to participate in basketball and track at the small, private college. She claims that Occidental's size had a lot to do with her decision. The fact that her parents also attended Occidental may have swayed her too. She is looking foward to possible road trips to the Bahamas with the basketball team.

Athlete of the Month



Jessica Gibb

Holding two school records in track this year, Jessica Gibb, junior, is May's Athlete of the Month. Gibb set the school record for High Hurdles with a time of 15.4 seconds.

Her time of 46.7 in the 300 Intermediate Hurdles is another record.

Gibb is heading for District's on Saturday. Her coach, Mr. Tom Millbrooke, labeled her "an outstanding girl trackster."

Gibb has also been in the Spring musical, and will be singing with the Cantalinas next year. She was recently named to the Varsity basketball rally squad.
